Date: 10.07.2017 User: 'Streptic' Warning: The following description contains minor spoilers (name and version of the product, as well as minor product details). I was always nervous about computer security. Do I need antivirus? Do I need anti-malware? Do I need firewall? Where do I want to keep those files, what do I delete, etc. The ads that are geared towards those of us with computers usually make those of us that know computers and/or are comfortable with working with them look like we have no life. There's always a lot of "please go to this website and they'll help you!" so I'm like what the heck for when I know these things. So when I saw Free Internet Eraser, I was like, that's it. I already know all these things, how hard could it be? It's like they made it so you don't even need to know anything, the program is preconfigured to the greatest accuracy possible! So I decided to take a shot and give it a try. I downloaded the demo and set it to scan every program that I run, so I had a feeling going in. I like it, I like it a lot. So I decided to buy it and I'll be honest I was a little bit nervous. When you are looking at those prices and checking out of your bank account to go and get it, some people might think about whether the protection it will offer is worth the price, I didn't. I bought it and was impressed. Let's talk about how it works: 1. How do I install it? and install it.

2. How do I clean it up? Once it is installed and ready, you just run it and it will start scanning. It will scan all your programs, all your internet activity, all the history and details of the websites you have visited, all of it. It is set to find anything it finds and delete it, however it is optional if you'd like to be asked when it deletes a program/website. It will do this in one shot and it will give a final window with all the programs/websites
