not picked up as a seriesThe present invention relates to an apparatus for manufacturing sausage-shaped material such as sausages, frankfurters, and the like, and especially to an apparatus for manufacturing sausages by filling a sausage-shaped material into a casing, such as a natural intestine, synthetic rubber tube, etc., and then connecting them together. Heretofore, in a sausage-manufacturing apparatus comprising a pair of casings, a filling tube is inserted into one of the casings, and a stuffing tube is inserted into the other casing. Then, the filling tube and the stuffing tube are inserted into the casings to fill a sausage-shaped material into the casings, and the casings are then closed and connected together. However, in the prior art apparatus, there is a problem that the surface or outer portion of the sausage-shaped material becomes irregular and uneven, with a result that the outer surface of
