It then connects to another model and returns a Partial view which I later plug in to the View. The problem is that after returning to the view and clicking on the submit button the first time the Partial view is loaded on the page instead of the updated Partial view. How can I get the updated/updated view? Controller Action: [HttpPost] public ActionResult ActiveXAttributes(int Id) { var product = dm.GetProduct(Id); if (!String.IsNullOrEmpty(product.Name)) return RedirectToAction("Details", new { Id = product.Id }); dm.ActiveProducts.Add(new ActiveProduct { Id = product.Id, Name = product.Name, Description = product.Description }); db.SaveChanges(); return PartialView("_ActiveProduct", dm.ActiveProducts); } View: @model CustomerAccount.ViewModels.ActiveProductViewModel @using (Html.BeginForm()) { @Html.AntiForgeryToken() ActiveProductViewModel @Html.ValidationSummary(true, "", new { @class = "text-danger" }) @Html.LabelFor(model => model.Id, htmlAttributes: new { @class = "control-label col-md-2" })

Cherry in the Sky is a science fiction book written in 1943 by Alan Whiting; it was turned into a movie in 1963. It was adapted into a 5th Season episode of the TV series, The Time Tunnel. The book The story takes place in the year 2001 and is set in a feared dystopia ruled by the Department of the Environment (DOE). The United States was on its way to this future when it was struck by a comet that blew up in the atmosphere with so much force, it caused a universal geomagnetic disturbance. The fallout led to a global environmental disaster. The book follows the words of a group of rebellious teens who escape this future to hide in the past, and they are aided by the American railroad worker, James Valentine, who happens to be the father of one of the rebel teens. Among these teens are John Pollard who helps another teen, Janet Hart, escape from her home in which she is held by a supercomputer called Miranda. Miranda is the prodigy of the person who runs the Department of the Environment. Jane Pollard was once considered the brightest student in her class at a school in Boston, but then, due to an accident, her left leg became paralyzed. While recovering, Pollard began to question the way in which her education was being administered. When her father was given the assignment to create Miranda, he demanded that she be attended to only by a professionally trained brain scientist. Her father refused, preferring to use his own two hands and the time he had to work. Through her father's ingenious creation, Miranda became an intelligent and resourceful assistant to her father. She kept her newly acquired intelligence and knowledge in a supercomputer called "Eden." Jane invented the first non-electronic musical instrument, a violin, just for Miranda. Miranda allowed Jane to become an accomplished musician, as she once was, her electric and electronic music-making accessible to millions via a new radio station. Miranda's appearance on the radio became an immediate success, both here and abroad, as did Jane's music, and Miranda subsequently traveled and performed for the masses. The Mojave, South Dakota, residents, rural in nature, are increasingly aware of a phenomenon that results in their tap water turning a lovely sunset pink. Not only are they being assailed by the United States Department of the Environment (DOE) and its restriction of water usage, which makes it a sin to use even one drop of water, but their beautiful area has turned

This is the VR version of my previous game ""Visiting the ancient Chinese Garden"" It took me 8 months to build this very very detailed garden. This is not a video, although it looks so real. You can fly freely to anywhere in this garden, feeling all its beauties. I strongly recommend you to fly over the lotus lake, of which the feeling is shocking. Ancient Chinese gardens are art treasures that have been deposited in nearly five thousand years of history. It takes the pursuit of the spiritual realm of "the unity of man and nature" as the ultimate and highest goal, so as to achieve the aesthetic purpose of "being made by man, it is open to nature"; It perfectly integrates painting, calligraphy, poetry, and craftsmanship to create an infinite artistic conception in a limited space. It is a highly demanding comprehensive art. Through this VR game, you can choose to ride on a dragonfly or become a dragonfly to experience and visit ancient Chinese gardens. Enjoy your journey. Instructions: 1. The Y/menu button on the left controller is for menu, and the trigger button on the right controller is used to select the menu. 2.
