

Diy Egpu Setup 110b5 ^HOT^

haimimitpe/diy-egpu-setup-110b5 ... There is a diy egpu program for hp laptops, download it first and check if there is an option to disable the integrated GPU. Reply ... The Hewlett-Packard website (hp.com) has drivers available for many laptop models that support egpu technology. I was using an HP Pavilion dv7-7160er laptop, so there is a separate shortcut - "Enable egpu" (disable egpu), enabled by default. If you have a laptop with built-in egpu, you can disable it. There is also the hp-egpu-tool, an overclocking utility on the HP website which allows you to disable egpu.

DIY eGPU Setup 1.35 (was Setup 1.x) software by.Q: Trying to get data from 2 tables I'm fairly new to PHP so bear with me. I'm trying to display posts from 1 table, with the data from 2 other tables that match the user's posted date. Here's my code: I've also tried changing the query line to: $query = "SELECT * FROM appointments where id = $row['id'] and date_week = $date_week ORDER BY id DESC"; I need to match the user's posted date with the appointments table (which is named 'dates'). I've tried to match it with appointments.id, appointments.date_week, and appointments.date. After looking at a few answers on here and tutorials online, I feel like my query is correct and I'm missing something else. I feel like this might be a simple fix, but I have spent all afternoon trying to figure it out. A: You need to pass the id (and the date_week) to the query. Like this: $query = "SELECT * FROM appointments WHERE id = '$row['id'].'" AND date_week = '$date_week.'" ORDER BY id DESC"; $dbc = mysqli_query($link, $query); You are here D.C c6a93da74d
