Since I was new to the Mac world, I was wondering how I should go about upgrading my machine in the most elegant way possible. While looking for someone to help me with the process, I stumbled upon a company that offers Tux Computers . They freestyle their repair processes and offer their customers a great deal of support . I decided to check out their services after reading a great review written by Schwartzie . The conclusion was that Tux Computers is a reliable company and they had excellent reviews in general from other Mac users. Plus, they are based in Europe, so they must offer really good customer support. After a couple of weeks of hard work, my Mac got the cleaning it needed and it was ready to use with a fully working profile. What makes Tux Computers such a good option is their ability to customize working environments to customers' needs. For example, if someone owns legacy software that takes a lot of RAM (RAM

> 8 GB) or if someone wants to use Adobe Photoshop on a machine without an Apple logo, it is easy for the company to clean this up.
